DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election with traverse of Invention II in the reply filed on 5/2/2005 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that the process for using the product is symbiotic to the product. This is not found persuasive because the reason for the restriction is to point out different invention where the product as claimed or the process for using the produce as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product. Applicant further confirms in the restriction arguments that the product as claimed can be used in glasses, liquids and other mediums teaching different inventions.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

3. Claims 2-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. The specification does not describe the manner or make obvious how electric, hydraulic or steam motors are actually used as the drive fans for this particular vehicle, specifically examiner is unsure how a steam or hydraulic motor will work as a drive fan for this particular vehicle. Furthermore, the specification does not describe or make obvious how and where the mounting or the variable mounting points for the drive-fans and drive components are placed or utilized.

4. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

5. Claims 2-13 are rejected as failing to define the invention in the manner required by 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph.

The claim(s) are narrative in form and replete with indefinite and functional or operational language. The structure which goes to make up the device must be clearly and positively specified. The structure must be organized and correlated in such a manner as to present a complete operative device. The claim(s) must be in one sentence form only. Note the format of the claims in the patent(s) cited.

Where applicant acts as his or her own lexicographer to specifically define a term of a claim contrary to its ordinary meaning, the written description must clearly redefine the claim term and set forth the uncommon definition so as to put one reasonably skilled in the art on notice that the applicant intended to so redefine that claim term. Process Control Corp. v. HydReclaim Corp., 190 F.3d 1350, 1357, 52 USPQ2d 1029, 1033 (Fed. Cir. 1999).

6. The terms "and/or", "where necessary", "wherever possible", "can be", "may" and "may be" render the claim indefinite because it is unclear whether the limitations following the phrase are part of the claimed invention.

Art Unit: 3641

7. The terms "utilizing the invention", "wherever possible", "common knowledge" and "to suit specific performance and role requirements" are terms that are not descriptive thereby rendering the scope of the claims unascertainable. More details are required to describe the inventions.

8. Claim 2 recites the limitation "the dihedral" in line 7 of page 39. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Conclusion

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Melkuti (5,454,53) teaches a vehicle substantially triangulated longitudinally and laterally, with wing assemblies, which are arranged within a hexagonal cell, framework and each wing assembly houses drive fans mounted on fixed approximately vertical axes within their own respective cylindrical shrouds (figures).
